
FIRE PREVENTION WEEK

Carelessness Mainly Responsible for Many Preventible Blazes

Seeking to bring about every means available to combat fire, to prevent and eradicate it, this city is joining with the province of the Dominion in observing Fire Prevention week, from Oct. 4 to 10. Special attention is being directed to the ravages of fire and the means necessary to prevent it.

In observing the week, James Blair, chief of the city fire department, has drawn attention to many perils attendant upon laxity and negligence.

Below is a statement on the fire situation, by the fire chief. His Excellency, the Governor-General, by Royal Proclamation has designated the week of Oct. 4-10, 1942, as Fire Prevention Week. I wish to take this opportunity to impress upon the public mind the enormous waste occasioned by fire in Canada to both life and property and to enlist the co-operation of all elements in the community in eliminating this waste. Everybody has a vital interest in Fire Prevention. Fire is no discriminator of persons. It hits all classes.

We all have a fear of fire. But perhaps we do not all know the many causes of fire and how they may be avoided. In 1941, Canada's fire loss amounted to $28,042,507, an increase of more than $5,000,000 over 1940, according to the report of the Dominion fire commissioner. Present indications point to an increase this year over last.

The number of lives lost in 1941 was 323, an increase of 80 over the previous year. The number of fires reported was 48,009 which includes 2,748, an increase of 80 over the previous year.

More than 80 per cent of these fires had never been started if care and forethought had been used. Seventy-five per cent of fires occur in our homes. Seventy-five per cent of lives lost through fires in our homes. Therefore, every care should be taken to prevent fire in the home. Let us examine some of the principal causes of fires in 1941. We have smokers carelessness leading the list with 12,993 fires, defective stoves, furnaces, boilers and pipes with 4,881 defective and overhauled chimneys and fires 4,523. Matches, electrical wiring and appliances 2,748, hot ashes and coals 2,738. Cleaning with gasoline and the misuse of other petroleum products.

Timber Proves Great Asset In Wartime

Among the numerous war requirements supplied by the Province of Alberta, timber is of first importance. This province has been fortunate this year in securing a heavy summer rainfall. This has resulted in tremendous production of both wild and domestic crops which will contribute noticeably to war economy. Another great benefit arising from the plentiful moisture has been the decreased menace of forest fires. A dry spell during the present autumn weather, however, will speedily bring a return of this great danger.

One of the most critical times of the year is now—until the snow falls. During this period a great deal of valuable help, at small cost of time or effort, may be given by people of every class and age to prevent conflagrations which may destroy vast areas of timber urgently needed for purposes of war.

Never try to clean clothes or floors with gasoline.

NO MYSTERIES
There is no mystery about fires in the home, unless purposely put there. Causes are plain and solution simple—careless care. The same holds true for fires in other types of occupancy, in factories, stores, schools, apartment blocks, rooming houses, offices, warehouses, hotels and restaurants.

A word at this time to all caretakers of buildings. Co-operation with fire department officials in respect to a thorough inspection of the premises left in their care. Continuously keeping check on all heating appliances and to acquaint themselves with whatever types of fire appliances are installed there. The fire department should be the first party notified and at once of any conditions found that are likely to be the cause of fire.

To waste more than twenty millions of dollars in fire while straining every possible resource in the war effort is a supreme example of tragic folly. This year, of all years, every fire is a national calamity and it should be the duty of every citizen to safeguard their premises against fire and by so doing they are contributing much to our war effort.

Fire Claimed 323 Victims During 1941

Last year the Fire Demon numbered among his victims in Canada 323 men, women and children. In 1940, 102 children lost their lives by fire, while in 1941, the lives of 117 little ones were claimed.

This staggering admission and the responsibility for such tragedies can in many cases be laid directly to the negligence of parents who far too often leave their helpless infants alone in the house while they visit neighbors or go to a show. These holocausts frequently occur in rural districts, where neighbors are long distances away and the parents are unable to reach their burning home in time to save their children from a horrible death.

Every parent should realize that it is his duty to teach his children the principles of fire prevention. They should not be allowed to play with fire, matches should be kept out of their reach and the playing with forbidden toys should be discouraged. By a strict adherence to the use of common sense, parents can thus save themselves the bitter anguish and life-long regret which must be ever present when a child perishes by their neglect.

CARELESSNESS IS SABOTAGE

Every Loyal Citizen must do his or her part in fighting this fire menace.

Annual Campaign of Bible Society Starts in Autumn

The British and Foreign Bible Society is following its usual annual practice of presenting its work, its opportunities, and its present needs to the people of north Alberta.

The regular annual campaign for funds for the society's worldwide work will be carried on in your local branch during the early autumn months. Voluntary workers are serving as collectors. These will carry proper credentials, and will have suitable literature bearing on the society's work and needs, for free distribution.

At First Baptist

"The Challenge of the Christian Life" will be the topic of the Rev. Daniel Young's sermon Sunday morning at the First Baptist Church. The minister will be "All in the April Evening."

At 7:30 p.m. the minister will speak about "Our Common Evolutions." Miss Helen Trimble will be soloist at that time.

TODAY'S MESSAGE

By REV. L. M. WATTS
Rector—St. Faith's Church
Edmonton, Alberta.

The Gospel of Two Worlds

WHEN the Church of Jesus Christ was commissioned for its task, the command was, "Go ye into all the world and preach the Gospel to every creature." This command has also been translated, "Go ye . . . and make disciples of all the nations." The two things are not mutually exclusive. If men have hearts to hear the Gospel they will most certainly become disciples.

The Gospel of Jesus Christ is the Good News of God; it includes not only the Saviour said, but what He has and is. He is the personification of the Good News of God. He is the Gospel of the open door to more abundant life.

The tendency in past ages has been to apply this Gospel almost solely to life beyond the grave. Men and women have withdrawn themselves from this world in order to meditate upon the glories of the world beyond. In this view, life in this world was regarded as an evil to be endured in order to attain the eternal world beyond.

The inevitable reaction in our own age has meant a complete reversal. Men and women have thought of the Gospel as applying almost solely to this world. In this view the Gospel is regarded as a social Gospel announced to alleviate human misery in this world. And so we have all manner of reform movements for human betterment.

It would seem that the task of the Church today is to bring together these two aspects of the Gospel of Jesus Christ, which clearly includes both this world and the world to come. So many of our efforts toward social reform today are earth-bound, and as such they fall short of the fullness of the Good News which our Lord Jesus Christ came to proclaim. What shall it profit a man if he shall gain the whole world and lose his soul?

One of the New Testament writers had occasion to warn his readers that "If a man say, I love God, and hate his brother, he is a liar." The warning is couched out with the command, "That he who loveth God, love his brother also." If we see this as a matter of emphasis, surely we are called upon to say to the people of our age, "If a man say, I love my brother, and he leave God out of his life and thought, he is falling to reach out to the highest. We might also conclude this message with the injunction: That he who loves his brother, love God also.

Let's Finish the Job

Several hundred Edmonton people have been contributing their time to make a canvass of the city to secure funds for the Community Chest. At the end of seven days of the campaign the collections reported amounted to something more than one-third of the needed $80,000. A progress report during a campaign never, of course, shows the complete results up to that time, but only the returns then made to headquarters. The total collected and pledged at the end of the seventh day may therefore have been half the amount required.

With a Dominion loan coming along, it is desirable to get the Community Chest effort cleared up as quickly as possible. Intending contributors can help to that end by waiting for the canvassers, by sending along contributions in advance. It would be a fine thing—and it is entirely possible—if the whole $80,000 were subscribed by the end of today.

Things to Remember

Last year one 10,000-ton cargo vessel was completed in Canada. This year 50 have been built, and a new one is now sliding down the ways every three days. That is a country where the production of very much minor industry in pre-war days, that is good going.

In addition some 4,700-tonners are being built in Canada, and naval vessels are being turned out ten times faster than ships of all kinds were being built in Dominion yards in pre-war days.

These are things Canadians should jot down and remember, along with the equally remarkable figures given out from time to time about the production of tanks, planes and guns. Whatever tendencies we may have developed under war conditions to be too ready to blow our horn too loudly is not charged against the people of the Dominion. Quite the contrary. We have put far more into this war in the shape of equipment and munitions than any other nation of comparable size ever put into any war.

Even if we don't want to boast about it, this is something we ought to get and keep clearly in mind.

We Know the Worst

Delegates to the convention of the chambers of commerce and industry from Hon. J. L. Halsey and Deputy Minister Clark say that taxation is now about as high as it is going to get. They say that it is not enough to impose Mr. Clark's tax that to raise taxation too high would kill initiative and thus slow down production. There can be little doubt that the more patriotic people may be, the more they will be willing to pay. But the state must leave them some fair margin of profits and wages if it is expected that they will be able to maintain production to the limit is needed now. Nothing less can guarantee victory.

There have been rumors, and a somewhat more sinister one, that the taxation would be raised again next year. The statements by the minister and deputy minister of finance are the most timely, and will be welcomed by the public. There is general agreement that the more of the war's cost we can pay during wartime the better. But even that sound principle could be applied to the point of discouraging producers all along the line from the work bench to the desk of the industrial executive.

Canadians are now paying heavily and cheerfully. They will pay all the more cheerfully, and work all the harder, for knowing that the whole surplus proceeds of their labor are not to be taken away from them—as is done under Hitler's "new order" of things in Germany.

The Fight Goes on

Still the fight for Stalingrad goes on, and the big announcement which Herr Hitler was billed to make three weeks ago has not been made yet. Instead, he is reported to have said that the place must be taken "at any cost." This is the 40th day that his dive-bombers and tanks are hammering the city, and infantry have been blasting and storming in an all-out attack. The Hitler practice demands that the job be finished quickly "at any cost," and the lives and limbs of German soldiers.

Stalingrad has the distinction of having without a break been under attack longer than any other place. For a precedent in sustained attack and defence one must go back to Verdun. And there is this difference. At Verdun the Germans, if they gave way at Verdun their armies would be destroyed and France overrun. The Russians at Stalingrad know that they could get back across the Volga and their armies would be still intact and their country able to resist. They have held the city for the damage they could do to the enemy, rather than because of the damage its loss would do to Russia.

Sentinelship of course played its part in inspiring the defence of the city, which bears the name of Stalin, and which bore the title of Russian ruler long before Stalin's time. But strategy and the precedence over sentiment in the making of war plans. The Russian high command has been keeping one eye on the enemy and the other on the weather. Winter is not far off. When it comes Stalingrad will be more defensible if the Russians still hold it, and of little use to the Nazis if they gain it.

Still, a blizzard sweep down the Volga, it is even conceivable that the defenders may quietly withdraw and leave Hitler the pile of debris for which he has made such a big deal. The lives of his soldiers and children pay such a terrible price.

The amount of steel shipped to Canada from the United States has been reduced and a "crisis" has resulted in some munitions plants. What this means as to the urgency of turning over scrap iron to the salvage collectors needs no explanation.

General Rommel will get back from the big talk at Berlin to find that his army in Egypt has lost some more ground and the fighting line has been straightened out according to the idea of the British commander. That is, if Rommel goes back to Egypt contrary to reports that he has been thrown into the discard along with the rest of the army. The action may not have been important, but the outcome doesn't support the Fuehrer's claim that he can hold what he has grabbed.

Indirect meat rationing is being adopted in the United States. Supplies released for consumption of consumers are reduced to 70 per cent of normal. In detail this means that people who do not live on farms will have to get their meat to get along on an average amount of 2½ pounds per person per week. In view of the situation that this developed here, Canadians will be surprised if similar measures are applied in the Dominion. If the allowable amount is not cut below 1½ pounds per week there will be no great cause for complaint.

Now Is the Time for Social Security in Canada

Archbishop of Canterbury Has Given A New Momentum To Drive

By HAROLD L. WEIR

A very great deal of wholesome enthusiasm has been engendered in Canada by the increasing energy and demands of the Archbishop of Canterbury for social justice and economic reform.

There is no doubt that the stand of His Grace has provoked anxious thought about the economic situation in Canada. It is to be expected that the Prime Minister of the Church of England would not lend his name to a manifesto unless it was a manifesto of some importance. It is the conviction that a matter that would engage the serious attention of a man of Dr. Tennant's intellectual stature must not only have much merit in it, but much imperative and demanding merit.

There is an intonation of victory, as those who lived through the years of the world war, can change the psychology of the world. There are new temporary enthusiasm that wipe out the memory of past distress.

We cannot take the time of waiting until we are overtaken by that exalted and over-confident right now, we are up against the fact that the world is being changed today than we have been in the past 23 years.

There is a danger, indeed, indeed, however, to wait until we are overtaken by that exalted and over-confident right now, we are up against the fact that the world is being changed today than we have been in the past 23 years.

Now Is the Time for Social Security in Canada

Archbishop of Canterbury Has Given A New Momentum To Drive

By HAROLD L. WEIR

A very great deal of wholesome enthusiasm has been engendered in Canada by the increasing energy and demands of the Archbishop of Canterbury for social justice and economic reform.

There is no doubt that the stand of His Grace has provoked anxious thought about the economic situation in Canada. It is to be expected that the Prime Minister of the Church of England would not lend his name to a manifesto unless it was a manifesto of some importance. It is the conviction that a matter that would engage the serious attention of a man of Dr. Tennant's intellectual stature must not only have much merit in it, but much imperative and demanding merit.

There is an intonation of victory, as those who lived through the years of the world war, can change the psychology of the world. There are new temporary enthusiasm that wipe out the memory of past distress.

We cannot take the time of waiting until we are overtaken by that exalted and over-confident right now, we are up against the fact that the world is being changed today than we have been in the past 23 years.

Daily War Map—Exclusive in The Edmonton Bulletin

The War Today

BY JOHN COLLINGWOOD READE

For some days now, the daily budget of news has been a repetition of the story told the day before. There is much behind the news in the way of feverish preparation for the great battles to come, and the words in which the news itself is clothed conceal deeds and circumstances which in any other period of history would rock the wrought in other periods of the war, the fighting fronts are static. There is no news to satisfy the gnawing hunger for action swift and positive. But no news of that kind is good news at present. The Germans are slowly improving their positions within Stalingrad, but they are losing heavily in the process. On the other hand, the Russians bearing down from the north and fighting within the Don bend are steadily increasing the danger to which the German siege forces are exposed. Given a few more days to come, and the very depth of German penetration may bring a grisly death to many thousand Nazi troops.

THREATEN HUN FLANK

There is Stalingrad to be captured a week ago, it would have been a Pyrrhic victory for the Germans. Now, the Russians have made a serious thrust to his flank which would cost him much to remove.

The snow line is beginning to even down the slopes of the Caucasus Mountains, and it is now virtually impossible for the Germans to take Stalingrad, clean the Russian forces out of the Don bend, mop up the whole corridor between the Volga and the Don and consolidate their positions before the season will be too advanced to consider forcing a passage through the mountains.

In any case the operations of the Red Army on the Kalinin front and at Voronezh have already knocked breaches in the outer shield of German defenses and made it certain that the Germans must fight in full force on the frozen area east of Smolensk and along the upper Don. There have been no spectacular developments in Egypt either. And this is because means must be found for getting in behind the Axis forces now bottled between the coast and the Qattara Depression before a massive frontal assault is launched. Otherwise, Rommel's armies will fight until they are satisfied that they cannot stand the pressure, then make for the open desert again, where they will continue to be a very costly nuisance.

It is now obvious that British and American forces are being accumulated in West Africa, and that preparations are under way for action that will bring the northwest shoulder of the continent under Allied control. The Germans have become very nervous about this and have brought pressure to bear upon Vichy to give them concessions and undertake responsibilities for defense on their own account.

Tate News Agency reports that the Germans have revised their armistice agreement with France, to permit an enlargement of the French Army. According to the Tate correspondent in Geneva, the Germans are authorizing the formation of three French infantry divisions, two artillery regiments, a tank regiment and an air unit, all of which are to be sent to Algeria and Tunisia for garrison duty. The British keep before them the serious dangers to which their Middle Eastern forces would be exposed were the Germans to obtain possession of the French fleet, and if Vichy were to give the enemy unlimited transit facilities for all types of military supplies to be shipped from the south of France to Tunisia, well out of the reach of British naval units or aircraft operating from Malta.

It is inevitable, therefore, that large-scale operations must be planned in West Africa, and these will involve a still greater dispersal of British and American strength. Already the exponents of victory through bombing attack complain that the transfers of bomber aircraft from Britain to other theatres of war are impeding the bombing offensive, but this cannot be helped, and the deficiency will soon be made up by the rapidly increasing output of long-range bomber aircraft in Britain and abroad.

The accompanying map shows the various territories in Northern and Central Africa which are under Allied control, and identifies both the serious dangers to which their Middle Eastern forces are exposed, and those which the Vichy Government, with German permission, are preparing to reinforce.

Bible Society Aids Active Servicemen

The emergency fund of the British and Foreign Bible Society supplies Testaments to every man and woman in His Majesty's forces on active duty, as well as providing Scriptures for the prison and internment camps.

The new development fund is for the preparation of adequate stocks of Bibles and Testaments for the war-torn countries now closed to Bible circulation.

When the war is over the society must be ready to distribute these Bibles, therefore contributions are asked from the people of Canada, as the society's sole source of income is from individual gifts.

Today's Sport Parade

By Jack Cuddy

NEW YORK, Oct. 3.—(BUP)—It may be the world series or it may be the war, but never in the history of Manhattan Island and its environs has there been such a crush of humanity in the downtown area. Everything is jammed.

Since the Yankees and amazing St. Louis Cardinals arrived in New York last night after their deadliest of one game each in the Missouri metropolis, the usually calm city seems to have gone berserk. This is unusual indeed; the city of New York, centre of some 7,000,000 people, has the habit of taking everything in stride.

But little old New York and the baseball fans of the nation are not taking this series in stride. In fact, president Ed. Barrow of the Yankees says, "I've never seen such a deluge of bases reserved seats. If the Stadium were twice as large, I could not tell it out—just like that."

RECORD SEAT SALE
BARROW knows what he's talking about because he didn't go to St. Louis with the Yankees. He stayed behind to care for the seating arrangements. "Give us good weather and we're virtually certain to get a capacity crowd of 70,000 or more, because we've put out 25,000 reserved seats on sale when the sun reaches the right height," Barrow said.

There were perhaps 200,000 applicants who couldn't get reserved seats—regardless of the price they offered for blocks of tickets to three games. No allocations were made to ticket speculators for this series, since a large portion of the proceeds are going to the United Service organizations. But those speculators who did obtain blocks that sold over the normal current at $15.00 for three games were not reluctant to choose customers and the choice of customers were glad to get them.

Cards Vote on Split

All St. Louis Eligibles To Get Full Series Share

WORLD SERIES TRAIN EN ROUTE TO N.Y., Oct. 3.—(AP)—St. Louis Cardinals have voted full shares in the world series pool to all 23 players who are eligible for the big play-off, as well as to Manager Bill Southworth, coaches Mike Gonzales and Buzzu Wares, trainer H. J. Weaver and secretary Leo Ward.

One-fifth shares were voted to three players who are not eligible for the series and to the clubhouse and bat boys.

Players who will receive full shares of the money are: George Kuroski, Jimmy Brown, Martin Marion, Ray Sanders, Stan Musial, Frank Chance, Ferey Noveau, Edouard, Harry Walker, Egan Pollet, Johnny Hoop, Howard Cope, Walker, Cooper, and O'Dea. Harry Gumbert, Coaker Triplett, Johnny Readdy, Murray Dickson, Max Laitner, Ernie White, Howard Kriest, Lloyd (Whitley) Moore, and Sam Naeve.

Fifth shares were voted to players Jeff Crow, Evin Daak, and Dick Heckman, clubhouse boy Horace Yankman and batboy Al Peters. A league rule prohibited the voting of shares to two players who were sold during the season, Rickie von Lon Warrack and Cletcher Guzman.

Colvilles Along With Sugar Henry In Service Corps

OTTAWA, Oct. 3.—(CP)—Three stars of last year's New York Rangers of the National Hockey League enlisted for active service here Friday with the Royal Canadian Army Service Corps. It was learned that they were Neil and Mac Colville of Edmonton, forwards with the Rangers for the past several seasons, and Jim (Sugar) Henry of Winnipeg, Rangers' goalkeeper, all of whom entered the Service Corps together.

It has been reported a fourth Ranger, Alex Shubicky of Winnipeg, who played with the Colvilles here, would also enlist here, but so far as could be ascertained, he had not yet arrived in the capital. In spite of this influx of hockey

Dickey Trapped

Yankee catcher Bill Dickey got safely to first on a bad throw by Cardinal second-sacker Jimmy Brown, but got no lasting satisfaction out of it. Cooper, Cards' catcher, backed up first base, recovered the ball and enabled first baseman Hopp and shortstop Marston to trap the Yankee off-first. Dickey is pictured on the ground after being tagged out, with Marston standing over him and Umpire Barr calling the play. In background is Jimmy Brown. Yankees won this World Series curtain-raiser, 7-4.

Six Clubs Record Gains

Major League Attendance Shows Drop of 8 Per Cent.

NEW YORK, Oct. 3.—(AP)—Major League baseball lost approximately 840,000 cash customers during the 1942 season, a drop of about eight per cent from the 1941 attendance total, but the figures fail to show evidence of a first class lull trend.

The National League drew 6,724,961 fans as compared with 5,929,461 a year ago; the American league, 6,041,461 as compared with 5,541,461 for the first time in many seasons, had totals of 4,885,414 this year and 4,220,818 in 1941.

These figures, in most cases, are taken either from announcements by the clubs or from the attendance given out daily at the games. They do not include the free admissions given to members of the armed forces by every club.

The American league absorbed more than half the total loss but produced the top clubs which gained the most at the gate as well as the two biggest losses. Four clubs, Cleveland, Cincinnati, Chicago White Sox and Brooklyn Dodgers, suffered a total drop in attendance of more than $7,000, but six others recorded gains.

The American league's season-long attendance dropped, according to sports writers' estimates, from $800,000 to $600,000. It is a problem trying to figure out the reason for the drop. The pennant race failed to draw the fans, Brooklyn passed the 1,000,000 mark in home attendance for the second year but fell 127,812 short of last year's total. The pennant race failed to draw the fans, Brooklyn passed the 1,000,000 mark in home attendance for the second year but fell 127,812 short of last year's total.

Washington Senators, whose performances on the field were tabbed as the best of the season, had an attendance gain of 103,530. They had the benefit of more night games than the other clubs and of Washington's wartime crowds. St. Louis Browns, too, surprised every body by climbing to third place, gained 65,887.

The Dodgers and the Yankees were the biggest drawing cards on the road as well as at home. Nearly every other National League club had its largest crowds when the "Bums" were in town while the Yankees, whose home attendance was 98,116, also produced the top turn out for their American league rivals.

Brophy Promoted General Agent, Passenger Dept.

EDMONTON, Oct. 3.—G. D. Brophy, formerly with the Canadian Pacific Railway passenger department at Winnipeg and Calgary, has been appointed to the position of general agent, passenger department, Montreal. It was announced by George E. Carter, Mr. Brophy's promotion is another stepping-stone in a long railway career. Mr. Brophy has taken him to coast to coast in Canada and to some of the heavy duty centres in the United States.

On National Lines

Consolation is extended to the family and friends of Mrs. C. Stuart, wife of Locomotive Engineer C. Stuart of Calgary, who passed away in Winnipeg Sept. 26. Funeral services and interment took place in Edmonton Sept. 30. Mrs. Stuart and family resided in Edmonton for many years before Mr. Stuart's transfer to Calgary and her passing will be regretted by many in this city.

Second Alaska Road Opposed

WASHINGTON, Oct. 3.—(AP)—A second highway to Alaska, along route "A" from Seattle north, should not be undertaken at this time in the opinion of the Federal Works Agency.
Its position was made known in a letter by Delegate Anthony J. DiMond of Alaska who had introduced legislation to authorize construction of the highway along the route recommended by the Alaska International Highway Commission.
Alan Johnston, general counsel for the F.W.A., said in a letter to Chairman Wilburn Cartwright (Dem., Okla.) of the House of Representatives roads committee that since the United States army was constructing the prairie route highway to Alaska construction of the "A" route would interfere with the war effort.
Johnston said the budget bureau had advised the F.W.A. that construction of the second road would "not be in accord with the program of the President at this time."

SURVEY REVEALS

Parents Favor School Hours 9:30 a.m. Until 4 p.m.

Reduction Lunch Hour By Half an Hour Only Change Present Program

Parents of school children in Edmonton favor school opening at 9:30 a.m. and closing at 4 p.m., with half-hour recesses at noon and 2:30 p.m., according to a school attendance hours survey conducted by the city school board.

The survey was conducted by the city school board in the fall of 1941, and the results were published in the Bulletin.

Happy Returns

Recently the school board has been receiving a lot of letters from parents of public and high school students, and the school board officials said the "survey" was substantially the result obtained by the school board through its referendum.

In the city cross-section poll taken by the Bulletin it was revealed that more than 75 per cent of the parents favored the 9:30 a.m. opening of schools, the shorter lunch hour, and the 4 p.m. closing.

A great many parents were of the opinion, however, that the shortening of hours should be made only in high schools because of the street congestion caused by the public school pupils was extremely limited.

His Honor Lt.-Gov. J. C. Bowen, who, on Saturday was receiving congratulations on attaining his 70th birthday. Born in Ottawa, Oct. 3, 1872, he served as a chaplain in the Great War of 1914-1918, with the rank of captain. At that time he was a minister in the Baptist Church. He is a former alderman of this city and leader of the Liberal party in the Alberta legislature. He was appointed to his present post March 23, 1937.

Young Singers Give Boost to Chest's Drive

Eight young boys and girls living in the Misericordia hospital district gave the Edmonton Community Chest Fund a boost Friday evening when they entertained residents on 111 street to raise money for the fund.

Forming a caroling party, the young people visited 30 homes and sang for nickels and dimes. They managed to collect $22.15 in small cash which they turned over to the fund.

Aged between 10 and 14 years, those in the party were Kenny and Betty Lee Baker, Mel, Theresa Knowler, Mary Cunningham, Sharon and Don Stock, and Caroline and Ina Schiefel.

Seven Service Clubs to Talk Victory Loan

For probably the first time in the history of Edmonton's seven service clubs, their members will meet jointly at the Macdonald hotel at noon next Wednesday.

Chief purpose of the meeting will be to correlate activities during the forthcoming Victory Loan campaign scheduled for Oct. 19 to 21.

Besides the seven service clubs the Edmonton Chamber of Commerce has cancelled regular weekly meetings to enable the members to participate.

John C. Diefenbacher, K.C., M.P., Prince Albert, Sask., will be the guest speaker at the meeting and will deal with topics pertaining to the Victory Loan.

Veterans of the world war have been invited to attend and will participate in the program.

Service clubs participating are the Compositian, Groux, Kinsmen, Kiwanis, Rotary, Lion and Optimists.

City Airmen Hurt During Operations

According to a letter received recently by Mr. and Mrs. George Kettie, 10022 116 street, their son, Lt. Ian G. Kettie, was injured recently in an air battle, but returned safely to his base.

Mr. Kettie believes he downed one Nazi plane, but isn't sure, although he knows it was damaged. He writes that his squadron was over its target at 20,000 feet when they ran into the Nazis. He received a shrapnel wound in his leg.

Mr. Kettie also took part in the battle of Dieppe, making four sweeps into the battle area during the six hours and 45 minutes of fighting.

Making a tour of western Canada, Mr. Kettie was over seen by president of Jenkins Bros., Ltd., manufacturers of valves, arrived in Edmonton Saturday. He is accompanied by H. H. Groux, Montreal, vice-president of the company, and Thomas B. Findlay, Winnipeg, western representative. They are guests at the Macdonald hotel.

Victory Potato Gives Promise Uncles' Return

The happiest girl in town is Betty Fuller, seven-and-a-half-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Fuller, 12717 126 street.

She was helping her grandfather, J. A. Kennedy, of 11829 88 street, gather his splendid crop of potatoes when she came across two fine specimens joined in a "V-for-Victory" formation.

"Good! I think this means the war is over soon and my uncles will come home," said Betty, who is especially anti-aircraft. "But they are not."

Lt. Peter William Kennedy, Frank Kennedy and Allan Bowen, all are serving with the Edmonton city police.

Lt. William Kennedy, nephew of Mr. Kennedy, is another anti-aircraft enthusiast and has been unable to locate them to date. He believes they reside at Edmonton.

Airman Seeking Relatives Here

Mr. and Mrs. Sam Campbell, uncle and aunt, respectively, of Lt. Peter William Kennedy, of Edmonton, N.B., are being sought by the missing persons department of the Edmonton city police.

City Flier Escapes Water Grave In Shell-Riddled Fighter-Bomber

By JACK DELONG

Scrambling free of safety belts and tearing the cockpit cover off while his plane was diving swiftly toward Dany Jones' locker in the chill waters of the English Channel, after Nazi cannon fire had crippled his Hurricane fighter-bomber, was the recent experience of Pilot Officer Donald K. Robertson, 23-year-old son of Mrs. Robertson of 10946 85 avenue, and K. Robertson, Barhead general merchant.

P.O. Robertson, who attended Garneau high school and the University of Alberta before enlisting was rescued by a British channel motor patrol boat after drifting four hours in his inflated rubber dinghy.

He described his miraculous escape from what seemed like certain death after an attack on German shipping off the Brittany coast on June 2.

In a letter recently received by his mother, P.O. Robertson told that he had a miraculous escape after his Hurricane fighter-bomber was shot down in the English Channel on June 2. He was rescued after floating for four hours in a rubber dinghy.

"If you really want a thrill that plays up and down your spine you should have a job flying a Hurricane fighter-bomber," said the Edmonton writer is a member of a bomber-fighter squadron led by Squadron Leader Smith of Edmonton.

He described the happenings on the afternoon of June 2, in graphic detail as he wrote to his mother in the letter.

The squadron was flying a low sweep of the coast in the lookout for enemy shipping.

Suddenly our target appeared and we hit the deck (swopped down to about 10 feet above the water in order to make the surprise complete), it was a German frigate, hugging the Brittany coast.

He released his bombs and dipped our wings sharply past the masts of an enemy ship.

LUCKY BURST

"There was a lucky burst of cannon fire through my port wing and just as I straightened out to head home, oil started dripping out of my motor into the cockpit, covering the seat."

"I said my prayers and headed the nose down to the water. It was too low to jump, suddenly I hit the water and in less than three seconds I was going down beneath the waves."

"So I floated in a lonely feeling of air. I struggled out of my number of straps and somehow or other managed to get clear of the cockpit. Up I went into the sunlight and you have no idea how sweet that came later."

"Next thing was to get the dinghy launched that was strapped on my seat. I managed to get it inflated and climbed in as per drill. It was a wonderful feeling although I tore my shoulder getting out of the plane."

"The Spitfire circled around to see how I made out and then flew away. I sure got a lonely feeling."

"A little while later a German Junkers came along and circled overhead, but this plane also flew away. Finally, about four hours later, a speed boat with four young and four husky sailors yanked me aboard."

"They gave me the biggest and the best glass of rum I have ever tasted and drank the whole works," P.O. Robertson declared.

Later the officer went to hospital before his last flight. P.O. Robertson killed the Duke of Kent, R.A.F. pilot in the crash of an R.A.F. bomber over the English Channel.

The Duke was greatly interested in the R.A.F. and had been visiting the R.A.F. at the R.A.F. base at Farnborough, Hampshire, England.

Greets Graduates Shortage of Beef May be Relieved Now

With more cattle being marketed in Edmonton and Calgary during the last week, the beef shortage in Alberta is expected to be relieved, according to the C.W.A.C. staff officer, who is in Edmonton Saturday in connection with the graduation banquet and parade of 350 women from the C.W.A.C. training centre at Vermilion.

Capl. Pearl Brent, senior C.W.A.C. staff officer at M.D. 13, who is in Edmonton Saturday in connection with the graduation banquet and parade of 350 women from the C.W.A.C. training centre at Vermilion.

Marketers were reported poor in August and September due to the fact that cattle raisers were taking advantage of the fact that the cattle were fat and because of the poor condition of roads to the markets.

Mr. Campbell returned this week from attending community sales of cattle at Cadogan and Veterans. He reported that condition of the cattle was good and prices high, and that 75 per cent of the cattle bought were shipped out of the province.

Complete Plans C.W.A.C. Parade

Preparations are complete for the parade of 350 graduating members of the C.W.A.C. from Vermilion basic training centre, who will march in the parade on Saturday evening.

The soldiery will march from the Macdonald at 8 p.m., north along 100 street to Jasper avenue, and then west to 107 street. The parade will move east on Jasper avenue to 101 street and south along 101 street to 107 street.

Business Woman Unable To Find a Husband

At 30 She Becomes Discouraged and Asks For Assistance; Many Reasons for Failure to Find Mate

DEAR MISS DIX: For a number of years the dominant desire of my life has been marriage, children, a home—and yet I get farther and farther away from it all the time. In a few days I will be 30. I am a successful business woman, popular; I have all the things which I need to make life comfortable and happy except that which I want most—a husband.

I have attempted to go about finding a suitable husband as though I were trying to get a job, but without success. I don't even know where to go to meet men. I am not looking for an ideal man or a romantic figure. Just a commonplace man with a desire for home and companionship who does a woman of 30 about the job of getting a husband? THIRTY.

Answer: Yes, it does. The girls go to me to know that a woman like you is so anxious to marry that she is willing to take practically anything in the shape of a man that she can get. I can understand a

McKenney On Bridge

By WILLIAM E. MCKENNEY
America's Card Authority

In pair events the rubber position is the most pathetic, because you realize the opportunity you missed to win. But in the team-of-four, the rubber position is an enviable one. You had to go through the first knocking out team after team, and even though you lose in the final round, you still feel that you accomplished a lot.

The team of E. N. Marcus and Charles Harvey of Boston, Jay Reiss of Brooklyn and Sam Katz of Newark, could well be proud of their recent finishing number in the world championship Masters team-of-four contest.

Marcus, president of the Caledonian Club of Boston, is a veteran tournament player and certainly did all he could on today's hand to pull his teammates toward victory.

silly young girl with no knowledge or experience of life being crazy in not married just to be a married because she thinks that marriage means a few wedding in which she will have the spotlight, and she will get a few minutes and will get a lot of presents and have many parties given her. I can understand that she will marry a drunkard, or a rascal or a ne'er-do-well because she feels that life without him would be as sad, as lonely, and as dull.

MARRY FOR MONEY
I can understand a very poor woman marrying a rich man, whom she does not love, for his money. But why any successful business woman who is sitting on the top of the world is so bent and dejected about finding a husband?

Answer: Yes, it does. The girls go to me to know that a woman like you is so anxious to marry that she is willing to take practically anything in the shape of a man that she can get. I can understand a surely at 30 you have been through enough matrimony to know that marriage is the greatest gamble on earth and that those who enter into it are just as likely to find it a purgatory as a paradise. Look around among your friends and see how few of them are happy and contented and how many who were free again. Consider how many of the starry-eyed brides whom you envied three or four years ago are now using for divorce and trying to get back their old jobs.

However, as you long so much for a husband, I wish to give you a little sure fire way of getting one. But, alas, there is no recipe for catching a husband that will catch one who depends on skill or technique, nobody knows. When I observe the ladies who have married early and often and their sisters who are better-looking and more attractive in every way than those who never get a peep at the altar, I am inclined toward the plain.

Generally speaking, when a girl's name never gets a chance to be in the matrimonial column it is because she lacks sex appeal. Her fairy godmother failed to give the comeliest look in her eyes; or so men pass her by without noticing that she is trying to fix them. Or perhaps, she misses out because she is too eager and makes a man feel she will get him if he doesn't watch out so she flows from her before the trap shuts down on him.

TOO CHOOSY
Or, it may be that she is too choosy and passes up good chances while she is looking for a fairy prince who never appears. Or it may be because she is too high-browed or too successful in business and makes men feel inferior to her. Check yourself out against these mistakes and see whether any of them is what scared men off in your case.

As for going where you can meet eligible men, there is no such thing as a free lunch. We used to say "Go with young women" to ladies in pursuit of a husband, but that advice is no good now. Never have I seen so many women, young or old, dressed up to kill as are camped in the chairs of every hotel lobby, and every boarding house, and who insist every day dance and pleasure resort from Boston to Mexico.

Business offices and educational colleges formerly were happy hunting grounds for husbands-to-be, but the waters in these places have been pretty well fished out.

Still and all despite this discouraging outlook, the wedding bells do continue to ring out, and where there is life there is hope; and what a woman really wants and is determined to have, she will get. So I think if I were a woman of 30 with a good business and money in the bank and if I wanted a husband more than anything else in the world, I'd set me up a cozy little home with a good cook and bring inviting luscious widowers and hungry-looking bachelors to dinner, and keep my fingers crossed for luck.

OFFICE WORK
DEAR DOROTHY DIX: I am 21 years old and have had two years of college plus graduating from a fine business school. Now this is my problem: I want to do something else than working in an ordinary business office. I have tried that and hate it. Since the world is in such a turmoil today there must be something for someone like me to do like to go into the W.A.C. but I am against it. I live in a small town where there are few jobs and nothing of interest whatever. I'd like to leave it. What can I do?

DISCOURAGED
Answer: I'm afraid you would be even more disgusted with life if you went into the army than you are now with business. When a girl becomes a soldier she has to submit to a discipline and do an amount of labor that makes the regime of a business office seem like a pink tea. However, if you want to try your wings and learn to fly, there is no harm in that. There are many jobs open to women that new recruits believe that you should be able to find plenty of work if you are willing to do it. But I said work, not darning, not playing with a job, not regarding an office as a place for picking up dates. Work! And maybe after all you will find your talents are being better used in a private secretary.

Go to the nearest recruiting office and talk the matter over with the officer in charge.

Arrangements for a Lovely Wedding

Details Settled in Advance
"Such a beautiful wedding!" They say that of yours if you plan it right! For, though the way for the bride is long, it doesn't take money to have a lovely wedding.

The important thing is to know what's correct, to have expert advice—whether your wedding is formal or informal.

The formal bride looks lovely in her bridal gown and veil, but you may look lovely, too, marrying in formal in suit and hat.

The groom's clothes are in key-cutaway and striped trousers for a formal afternoon wedding or business clothes for an informal one.

On the bride's budget will be invitations, refreshments, music and expenses at the church. The groom's suit include the license and for the time, the fee for the clergyman.

Our 32-page booklet explains all the etiquette of expenses, describes every detail of correct formal and informal wedding dress for bride, groom, attendants and guests. Tells everything for ceremony and reception.

Minute Make-Ups

Your Baby And Mine

By MYRTLE MEYER ELDERED

The habits of small children are amusingly, yet annoyingly, similar that a mother might as well be frank about them. Everyone who knows children knows that one cannot entirely escape tantrums or stubbornness or unreasonable behavior or disobedience. If children were more perfect they would not be children. So, no matter how much the parent, she is more concerned about her children's habits than about her own.

Mr. A. says that her child must be different because her friends will admit that their children have ever acted in like manner.

She past 2 and very bright. She weighs more than 30 pounds. Her baby teeth, knows her letters, and she is always wetting the animals in her picturebook and recite many poems. But at night she keeps me hopping for at least an hour after she goes to bed, demanding that I give her toilet attention.

"In the afternoon she does not go to sleep for at least an hour after she is put to bed and when I come in at 3:30 she is always wet. I wouldn't think so much of this but she is dry at all other times and knows very well what I expect her to do. How can I deal with these two problems?"

If your friends have had no such experience, rest assured other persons have. It's typical behavior. This is one of the tricks children play who are reluctant to see the mother leave the room and who are not sleepy enough to go to sleep promptly.

The long afternoon nap is probably chiefly at fault. Children at this age seldom take such long naps and they are of little profit if they prevent the child from being sleepy at her regular bedtime. Before a short rest or short nap and an early bed.

The fact that the toilet habits are not yet sufficiently stabilized so that you can depend on a day nap is not important. All of these things come about if the child has attention at other times of the day and there is an expectation that eventually she will be for your attention at nap-times as at other times.

At night make the bedtime ceremonies leisurely. Go on when she calls but not after that. Keep her in bed until she drowses and even if she keeps calling still continue that attitude. She'll soon find it useless to call and her own increased drowsiness will give sleep in her own sleep.

Our leaflet, "Hours of Sleep," also offers directions for making a sleeping bag. It may be had by sending a 3-cent stamp, self-addressed envelope with your request to Myrtle Meyer Elder in care of this newspaper.

What To Do

One of the common mistakes made in table setting is failure to associate the proper relation of textures. For instance, if you are using the heavy hand-made pottery, this should be accompanied by thick glassware, homelike table cloth and centerpiece of everyday garden flowers in a pottery bowl.

On the other hand, the delicate limoges and fine bone china require thin crystal and sheer organdy or fine linen table covers and a centerpiece of delicate formality in silver or crystal.

It is difficult to classify flowers, but their arrangement makes them blend in with rest of the table setting. A heavy centerpiece of marigolds on a coarse linen table cover is quite in keeping; but the same marigolds in crystal or silver or a fine linen cloth and the effect is entirely different.

Debunker

More CLASSICAL MUSIC

Douglas Moore points out in his delightful book, "Listening to Music," the fact that most serious music is really not classical; that the term "classical" which is applied to all music not of the ballet type or dance tempo, is erroneous.

Haydn and Mozart composed classical music which was standardized and fixed in form; while Beethoven and Wagner did not compose classical music, but romantic music. Beethoven paved the way for the symphony from the classical to the romantic music, and most composers after him were of the romantic age. Of late, the impressionistic and modernistic forms have appeared.

Hands give a "ready" response. Layers of tissue paper, sprinkled with perfume, laid between your fingers, is a nice way to perfume them.

Points for Parents

Mr. A. "I don't feel my baby at night any more."

Mr. B. "Babies are not all alike. Our baby still seems hungry at 10, and I believe he needs that feeding."

Baby himself, not some other baby, will tell us when the time has come to change his feeding schedule.

England had a bachelor's tax. Almost 12 per cent of the world from 1905 to 1906.

Little, Sugar Plenty of Sweet in Dessert Recipe

Let's start fall baking with a new batch of recipes that call for little sugar. Here is one that has been well tested.

CHOCOLATE MERINGUE PUDDING

(Serves 6)
One-third cup sugar, 4 tablespoons cornstarch, 1/4 teaspoon salt, 3 cups milk, 2 squares unsweetened chocolate, 2 eggs yolk, slightly beaten, 1 teaspoon vanilla, 2 egg whites, 4 tablespoons sugar.

Combine sugar, cornstarch and salt in top of double boiler, mixing very thoroughly. Add milk gradually, stirring well. Add chocolate. Place over boiling water and cook and stir until thickened; then continue cooking 10 minutes, stirring occasionally.

Small amount of mixture over egg whites, stirring vigorously.

Monday's Menu

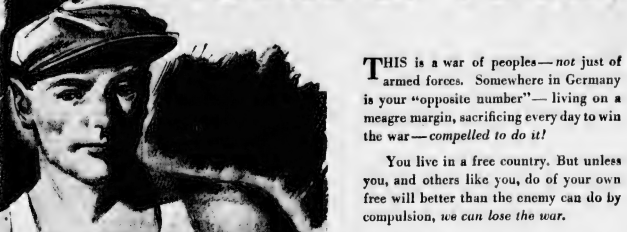

Breakfast: Grapes, muffins, fried ham, coffee, milk.

Lunch: Beef and potato hash, baked green salad, apples, tea.

Dinner: Beef liver stew, baked potatoes, baked squash, green salad, chocolate meringue pudding, coffee, milk.

Whoever You Are . . . Whatever Your Job . . .

Here's what Canada Needs of YOU...

THIS is a war of peoples—not just of armed forces. Somewhere in Germany is your "opposite number"—living on a meagre margin, sacrificing every day to win the war—compelled to do it!

You live in a free country. But unless you, and others like you, do of your own free will better than the enemy can do by compulsion, we can lose the war.

WHAT CANADA ASKS OF YOU

Every day that passes Canada must spend for war purposes Six Million Dollars over and above taxation. It can only come from voluntary loans by her people. Each one must accept his or her just share of responsibility.

What's your share of the savings job? Well, the average Canadian would have to lend to Canada to meet Canada's need $1 in every $5 of income left after taxes and compulsory savings have been collected. The average may not fit your case. Your own circumstances are distinctly your own. You may be able to do better both out of your current income and out of your accumulated savings in the bank—or you may not be able to reach the average. Your share of voluntary savings is every dollar you can possibly spare.

HOW YOU CAN DO IT

To do the utmost of which you are capable, you must budget your living expenses every week to cut out every item of needless expenditure and never spend more than your budget allows.

This is what Canada is asking of you to help win the war . . . to lend your money while others are risking their lives. It is, in fact, hardly self-denial—because you will be laying up for yourself the best of all investments—VICTORY BONDS are backed by all the resources of the Dominion of Canada; they yield a fair rate of interest; you can borrow against them and they are readily saleable when you need the cash.

Recent Bride Guest-of-Honor At Friday Tea

Large bouquets of snapdragons and asters were arranged artistically throughout the home of Mrs. E. V. Johnston, 1444 44th Avenue, where the bride, Mrs. E. V. Johnston, was the guest of honor at a tea given Friday afternoon and evening for her bridesmaids, Mrs. Lloyd Atkinson, the former Miss Edna Perry, who was married Saturday last.

Eighty guests were received by the hostess, who was smart in a blue-velvet dress, with white trimming and corsage of roses. Mrs. Perry, mother of the bride, also in the receiving line, wore an olive green, street-length dress, with black accessories and corsage of corn-flowers. The guest of honor made a pretty picture in her ensemble of periwinkle-blue, with many accessories and corsage of sweetwill roses.

The tea table, set with lace, was adorned with tall white lilies, silver holders. Pink and white flowers in a large silver bowl, graced the centre.

At the tea were Mrs. W. A. G. Drinnan and Mrs. R. J. Johnston.

Mrs. E. V. Johnston and Mrs. Stanley Smith were the hosts of the tea table, and Mr. O. Rogers, assisted by Mrs. John Michaels, was in charge of the dining room.

At the tea were Mrs. W. A. G. Drinnan and Mrs. R. J. Johnston.

TO PRESIDE

A wedding of interest in both Edmonton and Calgary was solemnized by the Rev. E. S. O'Leary at Christ church Saturday last, when Frances, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. Perkins, became the bride of Mr. William Alexander Bell, C.P.E. Bell, son of Mr. W. Bell, of Baysville and the late Mr. Bell.

Kneeling the church on the arm of her father, the bride wore a floor-length gown of white silk tulle, with a long, flowing veil, held in place by three strands of orange blossoms. Her only bridesmaid was Mrs. D. Bell, who wore a gown of white silk tulle, with a long, flowing veil, held in place by three strands of orange blossoms.

Best man was Mr. Stuart Bell, and Mr. Norman Perkins was usher. Wedding music was played by Miss Dorothy Teape.

Immediately following the ceremony an informal reception for over 20 guests was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. A. Perkins.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Perkins chose an afternoon dress of pink roses. Mrs. Bell, mother of the bride, wore a gown of white silk tulle, with a long, flowing veil, held in place by three strands of orange blossoms.

Following a brief honeymoon at Banff, the newlyweds will reside in their home in Calgary, where Mrs. Perkins is stationed.

Travelling with her was a red-velvet ensemble of rosin-green and blue, with a grey velvet top and accessories in navy.

Out-of-town guests included Mr. and Mrs. W. Bell, of Baysville, and Mr. and Mrs. A. Perkins, of Baysville.

Gay League will meet in the Reception room Saturday at 7 p.m.

ON ROUTE TO HIS HOME IN PHOENIX, JEFFERSON HILL EXPLAINS HIS MINING SETUP TO JENNY--HIS COMPANY IS PRODUCING AN ORE SO VITAL TO GOVERNMENT NEEDS THAT IT IS KNOWN ONLY AS SYMBOL S-X.

THE PRIVATE FLYING BAN SHOULDN'T APPLY TO WAR-PRODUCTION WORK--

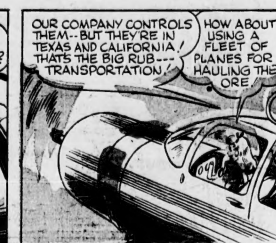

MAYBE NOT-- BUT EVEN IF I COULD GET PERMISSION TO USE PLANES, WHERE WOULD I GET THE PILOTS?

YOU GET THE SHIPS-- AND THE RIGHT TO FLY 'EM-- I'LL GET YOU THE PILOTS.

ABOUT THE WEIGHT OF S-X-- IT'S PRETTY LIGHT, MUCH OF IT IS IN WHAT WE CALL FREE STATE-- BUT IT STILL HAS TO BE SHELTERED.

OUR COMPANY CONTROLS THEM-- BUT THEY'RE IN TEXAS AND CALIFORNIA-- THAT'S THE BIG RUB-- TRANSPORTATION.

HOW ABOUT USING A FLEET OF PLANES FOR HAULING THE ORE?

OH, YOU WILL, WILL YOU, MISS ALADDIN? WHERE?

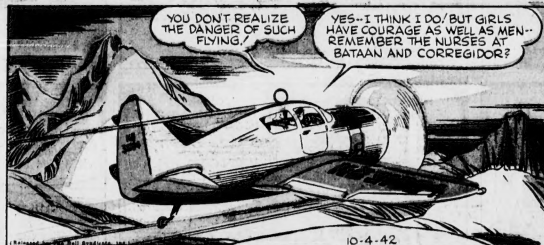

CALL IT BIRD-GIRL-VILLE-- WHICH MEANS ANYWHERE AND EVERYWHERE.

GIRLS/WHAT? EXCUSE ME, JENNY.

SOME OF THE BEST FLYERS IN THE COUNTRY ARE GIRLS--SO SKY-HUNGRY, RIGHT NOW THEY'D WELCOME A CHANCE TO FLY ROCKET SHIPS TO THE MOON!

YOU DON'T REALIZE THE DANGER OF SUCH FLYING.

YES--I THINK I DO, BUT GIRLS HAVE COURAGE AS WELL AS MEN-- REMEMBER THE NURSE AT BATAN AND CORREGIDOR?

OKAY, JENNY! I APOLOGIZE IF WE CAN PUT IT OVER ITS A DEAL! WILL YOU STAY WITH ME?

WILL I? THE BIRD-GIRL SHUTTLE COMMAND! SINGO.

OUT OUR WAY

The Willets

By Williams

MOM GAVE ME MONEY TO BUY OUR LUNCH WHILE WE'RE DOWNTOWN. IN CASE WE DIDN'T FINISH SHOPPING IN TIME.

GEE! ME EAT LUNCH IN A RESTAURANT WITH YOU?

WAIT JUST A MINUTE--I WANT TO BUY SOMETHING IN HERE!

A POCKETFUL OF CANDY, I SUPPOSE.

SO WHAT? I CAN BUY WHAT I WANT WITH MY OWN DOUGH, CAN'T I?

LISTEN, NOW--WE'RE GOING IN HERE TO EAT, AND DON'T WANT YOU EATING THE WAY YOU DO AT HOME!

DON'T WORRY ABOUT ME!

YOU SEE THAT YOU'RE CAREFUL AND DON'T EMBARRASS ME WITH YOUR SLOPPY TABLE MANNERS.

AND IF YOU ORDER, SOUP ONE SLURP OUT OF YOU AND I'LL GET UP AND WALK RIGHT OUT OF HERE! AND IF YOU ORDER PIE USE A FORK! AND WIPE YOUR MOUTH WITH YOUR NAPKIN--NOT YOUR TONGUE!

YES, MA'AM, YOU WANT THE CUBE STEAK, SPECIAL AND COFFEE?

AND YOURS PLEASE? OH, JUST FILL THIS UP FOR ME.

WELL, YOU'RE SO DOGGONE FINICKY-- IT WAS THE ONLY THING I COULD EAT WITHOUT DOING SOMETHING TO EMBARRASS YOU!
